Know All About Your 'Indweller'

And Shine As A Unique Expression Of Truth (376 pp.)

The teachings presented in this book draws attention to the profound vision of the Indwelling Self that is described in the Antaryāmi Brāhmaṇa of the Brihadaranyaka Upanishad. They also reflect insights from other Upanishads such as the Mundaka Upanishad, Katha Upanishad, Aitareya Upanishad and Taittiriya Upanishad. In addition, the book draws inspiration from the illuminating teachings and commentaries of several Vedantic teachers and saints, including Swami Krishnananda, Swami Saccidanandendra Saraswati, Swami Tattvavidananda, Swami Ramdas, Swami Sivananda, Swami Vivekananda, Guru Nanak, Kabir, the Mother of the Sri Aurobindo Ashram, and Paramahansa Swami Brahmananda, whose reflections help bring remarkable clarity to the understanding of the Self. This work therefore invites the reader to undertake the timeless inward journey – to discover the antaryāmi, the Indwelling Reality that illumines the mind, sustains life, and pervades the universe. Such discovery is not the acquisition of something new; it is the recognition of what has always been present. When this Truth is understood, life itself becomes an expression of that Inner Light – an expression of Truth, Love, and Peace. The purpose of human life is to discover that Self within and thereby discover the truth of all that is. This vision can become an expression in the very fabric of our daily life, as it did in the lives of the great mahātmās of our own times. They have shown by their example that this vision is not beyond reach when sought with sincere self-inquiry, devotion, inner discipline, and a life of service. If one only takes the first step toward the antaryāmi, what at first appears to be a distant ideal gradually reveals itself as one's own Self. In this endeavor, may this book inspire seekers [Dr. V. Swaminathan, in his Foreword (First Published in June 2026)]
